Sub: IKG PTU - Faculty Mobile Symposium in collaboration with Google.

Dear Sir/ Madam

I K Gujral Punjab Technical University have taken several initiatives to develop a strong connect between Academia and Corporate Sector. These initiatives have been taken jointly with multinational companies and industrial associations to empower faculty & students through various training programmes from time to time.

Google has also launched a Faculty Training Program in August this year for Indian Universities. Google is offering a new Android Development with Kotlin course to the partnered universities where they are conducting a Train-the-Trainer session for interested faculties and sharing all the learning resources such as Slide Decks, Codelabs, Practical labs, Starter and Solutions apps required in the course which is developed by Google Developer Training team. The objective is to create awareness and share knowledge of android app development with Kotlin among the students with the help of trained faculty. Such training programmes will be organized for the faculty of IKG PTU campuses & affiliated colleges soon.

IKGPTU in collaboration with Google is hosting an online Mobile symposium especially for its stakeholders including Director/ Principal, Head of the concerned departments and concerned faculty members. The event is scheduled on Oct 29, 2020 at 1000 hrs. It is planned to generate more awareness about Android Development with Kotlin. The copy of minute to minute programme of the event in detail is enclosed for your kind reference.
